Summer Conference: Five reasons not to miss out

2014 National Economics Challenge Results

2014 Teaching Awards - Submit your lesson today!

Resource of the Month: MyEconEdLink

Don't forget! Teaching Award Submissions Due July 1!

Interested in taking one of our summer graduate courses - Preparing to Teach High School Economics or Economics for the Elementary Classroom? Deadlines for registration are fast approaching, so register today!

Economics for the Elementary Classroom (July 14-18, K-6) Educators, $80) covers the sequence of economics at the elementary level. By the end of the course, you will have a solid understanding of the K-6 economic standards and the progression... past year and submit one for our educator awards? Open to all K-12 teachers in the state, the 3M Economic Educator Awards and Thrivent Financial Personal Finance Educator Awards celebrate excellence and creativity in bringing economics and personal finance to the classroom.

We are accepting submissions for this year’s awards until July 1, and all teachers are invited to submit their best economics or personal finance lesson for consideration. We are also accepting nominations for this year’s 3M Economic Educator Excellence Award. Award winners receive a cash prize and recognition at our annual EconFest event, scheduled this year for October 23 at Thrivent Financial’s Corporate Center. Learn more about the awards on our website.

Participants in both courses receive 2 free UMN graduate credits upon completion in the course in June 2015. In addition to the week-long session, participants complete a project by the end of the 2014-15 school year and participate in two follow up sessions during the school year. All participants receive a $250 participation stipend at the end of the week, and we also provide additional stipends for the follow up sessions.

Coming from outside the metro area? We have 10 $275 travel stipends set aside for you! Stipends are distributed in registration order and are still available for both courses.

Questions? Send us an email at mcee@umn.edu or give us a call at 612-625-3727.

Space is still available in our other summer professional development opportunities as well - check them out on our website!
Resource of the Month: myEconEdLink

This month's Resource of the Month is a follow-up to March's featured resource, EconEdLink. A new feature of the website is myEconEdLink, which allows you to customize your experience and access content relevant to you and your students. MyEconEdLink provides teachers with a great way to organize and keep track of valuable lessons and resources that you can use everyday.

Best of all? It's free! Check out a list of all the benefits and sign up today.

In our latest blog post, we take a look at five highlights on this year's current agenda. Read more!

Register today for the conference, held August 5 and 6 at the University of Minnesota's Continuing Education and Conference Center. Full conference registration is $90, and one-day registration is $50.

Conference sponsors include CHS, 3M, and Land O'Lakes. Thanks to them for their support of the conference!

Students place second in National Economics Challenge

The 14th Annual National Economics Challenge culminated with an exciting quiz bowl on Monday, May 19. This year's Challenge saw a record number of participants, with over 10,500 students from 40 states, with four elite teams per division competing in the final round, including Little Falls Community High School, Minnesota's state champions in the David Ricardo (large school) division.

In the quiz bowl finals, Little Falls faced the team from Hunter College High School in New York, NY. The quiz bowl ended with a nail biting finish, with Hunter College edging out Little Falls by just one point!

We congratulate Little Falls on their second place finish in such a thrilling competition! Learn more about the competition.
